

Board of Trustees

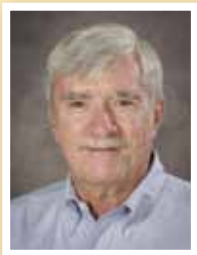

La Posada's Board of Trustees is a volunteer group of individuals committed to the mission and values of La Posada and its role as a not-for-profit community organization. The Board is dedicated to the well-being of seniors and actively monitors their quality of life, safety, security and overall satisfaction.

The Board's focus is one of policy governance, which emphasizes strategic leadership and proactive planning for the future of La Posada. The Board directs, controls and inspires La Posada through careful deliberation and establishment of governing policies.

SIMON DAVIS, Board Trustee

Mr. Davis served as Green Valley Fire District Chief for 28 years. Davis lived with his family in Southern Africa until 1981, attended school in the United Kingdom, then came to Tucson to attend the University of Arizona and study mining engineering. While a student, Davis became a volunteer firefighter and found his new career. He started as a firefighter in Green Valley in 1987 and became the Fire Chief in 1996. He has spent extensive time working with his colleagues in emergency services to enhance safety and delivery of emergency care including internationally participating in conferences on pre-hospital emergency services. Davis is also the State President of the Arizona Fire District Association representing 140 Fire Districts supporting both elected officials and personnel.
